How does Truecaller show caller ID before calls? Written by Shubham Sharma Apr 11, 2022, 09:38 pm 2 min read Truecaller unveils its secret to advance caller IDs. Truecaller has been blowing people's minds ever since the leading caller ID platform came out in 2009. The mobile app now also shows caller IDs before the call actually connects. However, not many people understand just exactly how Truecaller manages to make that work. Several have also called upon the Swedish company to explain how does its system work. Well, we have an answer. As many of you may have already noticed, Truecaller shows a caller ID alert saying "incoming call by" followed by the name of the caller. The notification pops up around 3-4 seconds before the call actually connects and the phone starts ringing for the user to answer. This has led many to wonder how exactly Truecaller knows who is going to call in advance. In a blog post, Truecaller explained the case by saying that the "caller alert before calls connect" feature works by sending an alert to the recipient (Truecaller user) by using the mobile data/Wi-Fi of the caller (another Truecaller user). "Since data/Wi-Fi is faster than a regular cellular network, the notification reaches you first, before the actual call comes through," the company added. In its explanation, Truecaller added that the advance alert with caller ID eventually helps users decide what to do with a call that's about to come. Users can determine if the caller is important enough to be answered or they can choose to put the phone on silent. So, basically, it saves you from the mess of dealing with unwanted callers. Security still remains a point of question While the feature appears to be working well and helping several Truecaller users and the company claims it's fully secure, its backend working remains completely unclear and we can't be completely sure about how secure it is. The company has been involved in a number of security-related matters, including a case where Truecaller users' data was found on sale on the dark web. If you are not convinced, Truecaller says that the feature—which requires notification permissions to work—can also be disabled by simply blocking the app from sending notifications via phone settings. Something went wrong. Wait a moment and try again. How does Call Alerts work?Call Alerts will let you know who's calling even before your phone rings. This allows you to set the phone on silent if you want to ignore it or move to a quieter place if you want to speak. This works only when a Truecaller user calls you. This uses the data / Wifi to securely send the alert from the caller's phone to yours, as soon as a call is made to you. Since data/Wifi is faster than a regular cellular network, the notification reaches you first, before the actual call comes through.(Note: This features needs Notifications permission to work. You can disable Call Alerts anytime from the Settings section of the app.) Something went wrong. Wait a moment and try again. 1. Check for Draw over other apps permission:Enable "Draw over apps". - Long press on the Truecaller app icon - Tap on App info (i) - Tap on advance - Disable Display over other apps.2. Settings for specific phone models.3. So, before we start, make sure to update your app to the latest version from Google Play Store or App Store. Some of the tips and tricks below work only on Truecaller for Android, so keep a note.1. Call Alerts (Predict Calls Before Ringing)When someone tries calling you, Truecaller automatically sends a notification about the incoming call to give you time to decide what to do. You get a few seconds before the phone starts ringing to prepare for the call.It uses the data or Wifi to send the alert from the caller's phone as soon as a call is made. Since the internet is faster than a regular cellular network, the notification reaches you before the actual call comes through.This feature is turned on by default. Also, it works only with people having Truecaller installed on their Android phones.2. Choose Call ReasonTruecaller now lets you choose a reason for calling the other person. You can let people know why you're calling them to improve the chances of call pick-up. This will prevent your calls from getting ignored when reaching out for important information.The call reason will show up over Call Alerts and Caller ID on the other person's phone provided that they are a Truecaller user. As of now, it is available only for Android. Here's how to use it:1. Open Truecaller and head to Settings.2. Select General.3. Here, enable Call Reason. Set up three reasons to choose from while making calls.That's it. You'll now get the option to choose a reason while making calls from Truecaller. It will work only when you dial the number from Truecaller and not the default dialer.3. View Profiles PrivatelyWhenever you check someone on Truecaller, they automatically get notified that someone has viewed their profile. Premium members can even see the names of people who have checked out their profiles.To make sure that nobody knows you're checking their number or profile on Truecaller:1. Open Truecaller and go to Settings.2. Here, click on Privacy Center.3. On the next screen, enable View Profiles Privately.4. Hide Your Availability or Last Seen from OthersOther Truecaller users can see your availability or last seen status, i.e., when you last opened Truecaller and whether you're on a call or silent mode. This makes it possible for them to know if you're busy and vice versa.Truecaller shows a red bell icon next to a number if it is on silent mode. Similarly, there'll be a red phone icon if the person is busy on another call. The last seen can be seen on a contact's profile and the call log.If you don't want others to see your availability status:1. Open Truecaller, tap the hamburger menu and go to Settings.2. Select Privacy Center.3. Here, turn off the toggle for Availability.Note: If you disable your last seen status, you won't see others' availability.5. Full-Screen Caller IDWhen you receive calls, Truecaller appears as a pop-up over your phone's stock incoming call interface. But now, you can choose to use Truecaller's Caller ID interface, which will replace your phone's default caller ID interface.To enable full-screen Caller ID in Truecaller:1. Open Truecaller and head to Settings.2. Here, click on Caller ID. Select Full Screen under Choose style.3. Tap Set as Default. Then, select Truecaller as your default phone app.That's it. All incoming calls will now appear with a full-screen Truecaller interface. It will include caller information along with a color that indicates the type of contact. For instance, saved contacts appear with blue for saved contacts, red for spammers, purple for priority calls, and gold for Truecaller Gold accounts.6. Smart SMSWith a recent update, Truecaller has introduced a new Smart SMS feature to categorize all your chats and SMS messages. It uses on-device machine learning to sort messages automatically into four groups. These include Personal, Important, Others, and Spam.The Important tab contains all financial and payment messages. It helps keep track of bills, payments, and budgets. Plus, you get travel reminders like flight delays and reservations, live tracking, courier delivery status, appointments, and more.The Smart SMS feature looks pretty similar to Microsoft's SMS Organizer app. So, if you want to keep everything in one place without compromising on features, you can use Truecaller as your default messaging app.7. Flash MessagesTruecaller flash messaging is a unique way to send messages to other Truecaller users using the internet. Using it, you can quickly send short messages, images, and your location to other Truecaller users who have enabled the feature.Once you send a flash message, the other person's phone will ring continuously for 60 seconds unless he swipes and reads the message. He can also instantly reply to your message with quick suggestions.Here's how to enable Flash Messaging:1. Open Truecaller and go to Settings.2. Click on General.3. Next, enable Flash Messaging.Then, go to any contact's profile and tap the Flash icon. You can then send text, emojis, images, and location to the other person.8. Record Calls Without WarningTruecaller now lets you record calls without warning or alert on Android. To enable call recording, follow the steps below:1. Install Truecaller from Google Play Store. Open the app, set it up, and grant the required permissions.2. Now, click the hamburger menu at the top left. Select Call Recordings.3. Here, enable the toggle for Call Recording. If already enabled, tap Set up.4. You'll see a pop-up asking to set Truecaller as the default dialer. It is completely optional.5. Tap Continue and allow the usage terms and permissions.7. Next, tap go to your phone Settings as directed on the screen.8. Tap Accessibility > Truecaller Call Recording. Turn it on.9. Go back to Truecaller, and the recording will be enabled.10. Tap the floating record button to start recording whenever you're on a call.11. You can again press the button to stop recording else wait for the call to end.You can tap the notification to play the recorded call. If there's an issue with recording, consider putting the call on Speaker at full volume when recording. Here are other ways to record calls without warning others.9. Change Truecaller ThemeBy default, Truecaller uses a material white theme. However, if you want to save your phone's battery, you can opt for the dark mode in Settings.You can switch themes in Truecaller Settings > Appearance > Theme. There's also a quick shortcut to switch modes in the sidebar menu.10. Get Truecaller Verified BadgeHave you seen Truecaller users with a verified blue badge? The Verified badge is not guaranteed and takes time to appear on one's profile.You can start the process by connecting your profile with a Facebook account where the name matches your name in Truecaller. Once the system has enough evidence that your name is correct, it will automatically assign the Verified badge.To link your Facebook account, click the three-dot menu at the top left. Here, select the Edit button and click on Facebook. iPhone users can find the option by clicking their avatar at the top-right corner.11. Get Noticed With Gold Caller IDTruecaller offers two paid options- Premium and Gold. Truecaller Premium removes ads lets you view who viewed your profile alongside advanced spam blocking, more contact requests/ month, and a premium badge.On the other hand, Truecaller Gold gets you a Gold Caller ID in addition to all premium features- your name will appear with a golden Caller ID for other Truecaller users.
